EARLY DAYS IN MADISON COUNTY
MADISON CO. DEMOCRAT
FEB. 9, 1881

The first Board of County Commissioners of Madison county were appointed in 1810, and the first meeting was held on June 11th of that year at the house of Thomas Gwynne. The Board consisted of Joshua Ewing, John Arbuckle (the head of the Arbuckle family), and William Gibson. The latter was chosen Clerk of the Board. Patrick McLene, who was afterwards the founder of London, was appointed lister of all the resident land in the county. John Moore, the Sheriff, was chosen as tax collector, and Thomas Gwynne as County Treasurer. The Commissioners were asked to take some steps towards the extermination of wolves, as the ravages of these animals had become very destructive to the settlers' live stock, and it was decided to offer a reward of $2 for the scalp of every wolf over six months old, and $1 for those under the same age, on and after the first of March, 1810. On the 17th of June Thos. Gwynne was paid $2 for the first wolf scalp, and Wm. Atkinson laid claims for nine scalps.

The first Grand Jury of which we have any record was in July. The jurors were: Wm. Blane, John McDonald, Elias Langham, Andrew Cypherd, Hugh Mt. Gomery, Curtis Ballard, Charles Atkinson, Paul Alder, Thomas Foster, Nicholas Moore, Nehemiah Gates, Wm. Gibson, Andrew Shields, Philip Lewis, John Arbuckle. When Court met, Judge Baskerville received $10 50 for his services as Judge of Common Pleas, and Robert Hume was engaged as Clerk.

The first three judges of election paid by the Commissioners were Luther Carey, of Darby township, John Moore and John Arbuckle.

P. McLene, surveyor, hired two young men named Isaac Hudson and Abraham Denton as chain carriers and they each received $4 for their services.

The office of Commissioner was not a very lucrative one - J. Ewing receiving only $7 for services up to Nov. 20th, 1810. About this time the settlers became seriously interested in the establishment of a highway as a medium of communication with the more thickly populated outside world. The first minute we have of this movement is dated Sept. 3d, when "a petition was presented by the inhabitants of Union and Stokes townships, praying for the establishment of a road from Minor's Ford on Deer Creek, running westbound, leaving Andrew Cyford's plantation to the south, and Jacob Blocker's plantation north of said road, making the second from the beginning at or near John Mozer's on the Great Prairie; Thence on the best ground to the Greene county line at or near Jacob Miller's. Jeremiah Minor, Andrew Cyford and John Moore were appointed views to, meet at the house of T. Gwynne, Esq."

On the same day, the inhabitants of Union and Pleasant townships petitioned for a road running from the end of the Chillicothe road, near John Page's to Urbana. Peter Helphenstine, Hugh Montgomery and William Lewis were appointed viewers. Both roads were granted.
